PROFICIENCY

AH

Speakers at the Advanced Low sublevel are able to handle a variety of communication tasks. They are able to participate in most informal and some formal conversations on topics related to school, home, and leisure activities. They can also speak about some topics related to employment, current events, and matters of public and community interest.

OPIc

AL

At the Advanced Low sublevel, speakers demonstrate the ability to narrate and describe in the major time frames of past, present, and future with some control of aspect, although their narrations and descriptions tend to be handled separately rather than interwoven. Speakers at the Advanced Low sublevel combine and link sentences into connected discourse of paragraph length. They can appropriately handle the essential linguistic challenges presented by a complication or an unexpected turn of events.

IH

IM

Speakers at the Advanced Low sublevel communicate with sufficient accuracy, clarity, and precision to convey their intended message without misrepresentation or confusion. Their dominant language may be evident in the use of false cognates, literal translations, or the oral paragraph structure of that language, and their discourse may contain hesitations and self-correction. However, they are able to use strategies such as rephrasing and circumlocution to maintain communication and repair misunderstanding.

- Communicate with sufficient accuracy, clarity, and precision to convey their intended message without misrepresentation or confusion.

ACTFL ADVANCED LOW - SPEAKERS

Communication Tasks	Sustain Advanced-level tasks, although only minimally. Are able to narrate and describe in the major time frames using paragraph-length discourse. Can handle the communication challenges presented by a complication in a transaction or an unexpected turn of events. Can use communicative strategies such as rephrasing and circumlocution to compensate for vocabulary or forms they do not know.
Contexts/Content	Are able to handle a variety of communicative tasks and participate in most informal and some formal conversations. Able to speak about some familiar topics related to employment, current events and matters of public and community interest.
Discourse Type	Produce connected discourse of paragraph-length and organization.
Accuracy	Contribute to conversations with sufficient accuracy, clarity and precision to convey the intended message without confusion or misrepresentation.

TIPS FOR IMPROVING PROFICIENCY

- Focus on developing detailed narrations. Place events in context and attempt to provide foregrounding and backgrounding when relating a story. Provide very detailed information.
- Develop greater organization, sequencing and connectedness in speech. Increase and broaden use of cohesive devices, such as adverbial phrases and conjunctions to help link ideas, move the action forward, and create principal and supporting ideas in oral paragraphs. Learn to produce complex sentence structures, including subordinate clauses, to provide precise details and convey relationships.
- Practice discussing topics of social and professional relevance. Practice reporting the facts about events of current, social or professional interests. Read and listen to news and professional media in order to acquire the necessary vocabulary.
- Improve fluency and delivery: Practice speaking to improve the flow of speech and reduce grammatical and pronunciation errors, pauses and self-corrections.
